Notice in Respect of Earthquake-Prone Building

Sections 124(2)(c), Building Act 2004 EQB0017-2 EQB0209-2

The building

Building name	Civic House – ex Post Office Savings Bank building & Generator Room
Street address of building	108 Trafalgar Street, Nelson
Legal description of land where building is located	Lot 3 DP14732	PPR(s)	110024 119562

To:	Nelson City Council - PO Box 645, Nelson 7040

Notice is hereby given that the Nelson City Council, as Territorial Authority and in accordance with the Nelson City Council Earthquake-prone, Dangerous and Insanitary Buildings Policy (2006), is satisfied that this building is earthquake-prone, as defined in section 122 of the Building Act 2004 (see overleaf).

Work is required to be carried out on this building by 8 November 2017 to either:

a. Relocate post disaster functions (Emergency Operations Centre) from this building to establish an importance level of 2 (normal importance, ASNZS1170.2:2002 clause 3.3) for this building; or
b. Strengthen the building to at least 34% New Building Standard (NBS); or
c. Otherwise remove the danger by ensuring that the building will not collapse in a moderate earthquake causing injury or death to persons, or damage to any other property.

A building consent is required prior to strengthening work being undertaken, unless it is exempted by Schedule 1 building work for which consent is not required, of the Building Act 2004, and Council has given due consideration to whether a building consent is required. The building consent must be obtained, or in the case where consent is not required, documentation describing how the work complies with the Act must be supplied to Council prior to undertaking the work. Work must be completed by the date specified above.

Please note that under section 368 of the Building Act 2004 it is an offence to wilfully remove or deface this notice or incite another person to do so and is currently punishable by a fine not exceeding $5,000.

Failure to comply with this notice is an offence under section 128A(1) of the Building Act 2004, and is currently punishable by a fine not exceeding $200,000.

Note: when undertaking the strengthening or demolition work, you must first obtain all necessary consents under the Building Act 2004, Resource Management Act 1991 or any other applicable legislative or bylaw requirements in place when the work is undertaken.

In accordance with section 125 of the Building Act 2004, a copy of this notice will also be served on those with a registered interest on the title and any authority with an interest in the building.

Owners have 12 months from date of this notice to appeal by applying for a determination from the Department of Building and Housing under section 177(3)(f) of the Building Act 2004.

Section 122 of the Building Act 2004

122 Meaning of earthquake-prone building

(1) A building is earthquake prone for the purposes of this Act if, having regard to its condition and to the ground on which it is built, and because of its construction, the building—

(a) will have its ultimate capacity exceeded in a moderate earthquake (as defined in the regulations); and

(b) would be likely to collapse causing—

(i) injury or death to persons in the building or to persons on any other property; or

(ii) damage to any other property.

(2) Subsection (1) does not apply to a building that is used wholly or mainly for residential purposes unless the building—

(a) comprises 2 or more storeys; and

(b) contains 3 or more household units
